INTRODUCTION

In offering the present work to the public, it is the author's hope to supply, with respect to other dictionaries of the Chinook Jargon, a desideratum hitherto unsupplied in the fifty or more editions of small vocabularies issued during a period of seventy years.

It has been the aim to give the origin and derivation of every word treated, whenever such is known, and to record under each every authoritative reference thereto. Also a reference to the authority is noted.

With regard to the spelling, it is believed that a sufficient number of forms is recorded to enable the student to identify practically every word, as well as to trace the origin of many words of undetermined derivation.

A valuable feature is the index to useful words in the main vocabulary. Another feature worth mention is the supplemental vocabulary of about two hundred uncommon words, which are of such limited use as to preclude a necessity for their appearance in the main vocabulary. One of the best features, perhaps, is the Guide to Pronunciation, with the Key to the Symbols. This pronouncing vocabulary records two hundred and seventy-five words, employing the diacritically marked letters, and is the work of the late Myron Eells, than whom no higher authority ever lived.

"The origin of this Jargon, a conventional language similar to the Lingua Franca of the Mediterranean, the Negro-English-Dutch of Surinam, the Pigeon English of China, and several other mixed tongues, dates back to the fur drogu*e*rs of the last century. Those mariners whose enterprise in the fifteen years preceding 1800, explored the intricacies of the northwest coast of America, picked up at their general rendezvous, Nootka Sound, various native words useful in barter, and thence transplanted them, with additions from the English, to the shores of Oregon. Even before their day, the coasting trade and warlike expeditions of the northern tribes, themselves a seafaring race, had opened up a partial understanding of of each other's speech; for when, in 1792, Vancouver's officers visited Gray's Harbor, they found that the natives, though speaking a different language, understood many words of the Nootka.

On the arrival of Lewis and Clarke at the mouth of the Columbia, in 1806, the new language, from the sentences given by them, had evidently attained some form. It was with the arrival of Astor's party, however, that the Jargon received its principal impulse. Many more words of English were then brought in, and for the first time the French, or rather the Canadian and Missouri patois of the French, were introduced. The principal seat of the company being at Astoria, not only a large addition of Chinook words was made, but a considerable number was taken from the Chihalis, who immediately bordered the tribe on the north,—each owning a portion of Shoalwater Bay. The words adopted from the several languages were, naturally enough, those most easily uttered by all, except, of course, that objects new to the natives found names in French or English, and such modifications were made in pronunciation as suited tongues accustomed to different sounds. Thus the gutturals of the Indians were softened or dropped; and the f and r of the English and French, to them unpronounceable, were modified into p and l. Grammatical forms were reduced to their simplest expression, and variations in mood and tense conveyed only by adverbs or by the context. The language continued to receive additions, and assumed a more distinct and settled meaning, under the Northwest and Hudson's Bay companies, who succeeded Astor's party, as well as through the American settlers in Oregon. Its advantage was soon perceived by the Indians, and the Jargon became to some extent a means of communication between natives of different speech, as well as between them and the whites. It was even used as such between Americans and Canadians. It was at first most in vogue upon the lower Columbia and the Willamette, whence it spread to Puget Sound, and with the extension of trade found its way far up the coast, as well as the Columbia and Fraser rivers; and there are now few tribes between the 42nd and 57th parallels of latitude in which there are not to be found interpreters through its medium. Its prevalence and easy acquisition, while of vast convenience to traders and settlers, has tended greatly to hinder the acquirement of the original Indian languages; so much so, that except by a few missionaries and pioneers, hardly one of them is spoken or understood by white men in all Oregon and Washington Territory. Notwithstanding its apparent poverty in number of words, and the absence of grammatical forms, it possesses much more flexibility and power of expression than might be imagined, and really serves almost every purpose of ordinary intercourse.

The number of words constituting the Jargon proper has been variously stated. Many formerly employed have become in great measure obsolete, while others have been locally introduced. Thus, at the Dalles of the Columbia, various terms are common which would not be intelligible at Astoria or on Puget Sound. In making the following selection, I have included all those which, on reference to a number of vocabularies, I have found current at any of these places, rejecting, on the other hand, such as individuals, partially acquainted with the native languages, have employed for their own convenience."—George Gibbs, in "A Dictionary of the Chinook Jargon or Trade Language of Oregon," prepared from materials collected by himself during a residence of twelve years on the Northwest Coast of North America.

"The 'Trade Language,' which came afterwards to be known as the 'Chinook Jargon,' grew into existence. As finally developed, it has become really an 'international speech' widely diffused among the fifty tribes of Oregon, Washington, British Columbia and Alaska, and of inestimable service, not only to commerce, but to science, to missionary efforts, and to the convenience of travelers. * * * The British and American trading ships first appeared on the northwest coast during the closing years of the last (eighteenth) century. The great number of languages spoken by the native tribes proved to be a serious hindrance to their business. * * * Unfortunately, all these languages—the Nootka, Nisqually, Chinook, Chihailish, and others—were alike harsh in pronunciation, complex in structure, and each spoken over a very limited space. But, as the harbor of Nootka was at that time the headquarters or chief emporium of the trade, it was necessarily the case that some words of the dialect there spoken became known to the traders, and the Indians, on the other hand, were made familiar with a few English words. These, with the assistance of signs, were sufficient for the slight intercourse that was then maintained. Afterwards the traders began to frequent the Columbia River, and naturally attempted to communicate with the natives there by means of the words with which they had found intelligible at Nootka. The Chinooks, who are quick in catching sounds, soon acquired these words, both Nootka and English, and we find that they were in use among them as early as the visit of Lewis and Clark in 1804. But when, at a later period, the white traders of Astor's expeditions, and from other quarters, made permanent establishments in Oregon, it was soon found that the scanty list of nouns, verbs, and adjectives then in use was not sufficient for the more constant and general intercourse which began to take place. A real language, complete in all its parts, however limited in extent, was required; and it was found by drawing upon the Chinook for such words as were requisite, in order to add to the skeleton which they had already possessed the sinews and tendons, the connecting ligaments, as it were, of a speech. These consisted of the numerals (the ten digits and the word for hundred), twelve pronouns (I, thou, he, we, ye, they, this, other, all, both, who, what), and about twenty adverbs and prepositions (such as now, then, formerly, soon, across, ashore, offshore, inland, above, below, to, with, etc.). Having appropriated these and a few other words of the same tongue, the Trade Language—or, as it now began to be styled, 'the Jargon'—assumed a regular shape, and became of great service as a means of general intercourse. But the new idiom received additions from other sources. The Canadian voyageurs, as they are called, who enlisted in the service of the American and British fur companies, were brought more closely in contact with the Indians than any others of the foreigners. They did not merely trade, they traveled, hunted, ate, and, in short, lived with them on terms of familiarity. The consequence was that several words of the French language were added to the slender stock of the Jargon. Eight on ten words were made by what grammarians term onomatopoeia,—that is, were formed by rude attempts to imitate sound, and are therefore the sole and original property of the Jargon. All the words thus combined in this singularly constructed language, at that stage of its existence, were found to number, according to my computation, about two hundred and fifty. Of these, eighteen were of Nootka origin, forty-one were English, thirty-four French, one hundred and eleven Chinook, ten formed by onomatopoeia, and some thirty-eight were of doubtful derivation, though probably for the most part either Chinook or Nootkan. But as might be expected, the language continued to develop. Its grammar, such as it was, remained the same, but its Lexicon drew contributions from all the various sources which have been named, and from some others. In 1863, seventeen years after my list was published, the Smithsonian Institution put forth a 'Dictionary of the Chinook Jargon,' prepared by the late George Gibbs, a thoroughly competent investigator. His collection comprised nearly five hundred words. Those of Chinook origin had almost doubled, being computed at two hundred and twenty-one. The French had more than doubled, and comprised now ninety-four words. The English terms were sixty-seven. The great Salish or 'Flathead' stock, with whose tribes, next to the Chinook, the Oregon traders had the largest relations, furnished thirty-nine words. The Nootka, in its various dialects, now yielded twenty-four. The others, about forty, were due to the imitation of natural sounds, or were of casual or undetermined derivation. There can be no doubt that it will remain a living and useful language so long as the native tribes continue to speak their own dialects. Rude and formless as it is, the spontaneous product of the commercial needs of mingled races, it has been the source of great and varied benefits. It may well serve, if not as a model, at least as a finger-post to direct us to some higher invention for subserving the larger uses of an advanced civilization. Viewed in this light, and also as presenting one of the most curious specimens of a 'mixed language' which philologists have had the opportunity of analyzing, the Jargon seems to merit a somewhat careful study."

Another View.—"The Chinook Jargon was invented by the Hudson Bay Company traders, who were mostly French-Canadians. Having to trade with the numerous tribes inhabiting the countries west of the Rocky Mountains, it was necessary to have a language understood by all. Hence, the idea of composing the Chinook Jargon. Fort Vancouver being the principal post, the traders of the twenty-nine forts belonging to the company, on the western slope, and the Indians from every part of that immense country, had to come to Vancouver for the trading season. They used to learn the Chinook, and then teach it to others. In this manner it became universally known. The two first missionaries to Oregon, Rev. F. N. Blanchet, V. G., and his worthy companion, Rev. Mod. Demers, arrived from Canada to Vancouver on the 24th of November, 1838. They had to instruct numerous tribes of Indians, and the wives and children of the whites, who spoke only the Chinook. The two missionaries set to work to learn it, and in a few weeks Father Demers had mastered it, and began to preach. He composed a vocabulary which was very useful to other missionaries. He composed several canticles which the Indians learned and sang with taste and delight. He also translated all the Christian prayers in the same language. Such is the origin of the Chinook Jargon, which enabled the two first missionaries in the country to do a great deal of good among the Indians and half-breeds."—Rev. L. N. St. Onge.

Judge Swan's Opinion: "This Jargon is composed of Chinook, French and English languages, and is supposed by many to have been formed by the Hudson Bay Company for trading purposes. Such, however, is not the fact. There have been constant additions to the Jargon since the advent of the Hudson Bay Company, for many of the words now in general use in this language are of French and English origin, but I think that, among the Coast Indians in particular, the Indian part of the language has been in use for years. The first mention I have seen made of this Jargon is in Meare's voyages in 1788, where in giving an account of a chief named Callicum, who hurt his leg while climbing on board ship, and then sucked the blood from the wound, Meares states he "licked his lips, and, patting his belly, exclaimed, cloosh, cloosh, or good, good."

Cloosh, or klose, or close, are all the same, and mean good. The different manner in which words are spelled is no evidence of a difference of meaning, for no two writers of Indian words fully agree as to the proper method of spelling. (Kloshe is spelled in the following ways: Close, Closche, Clouch, klosche, klose, klosh, kloosh, tloos, tlosh, tlush, etc.—Editor). Still later than this, in 1803, Jewett, in his narrative of the ship Boston, at Nootka, gives a vocabulary of the words in common use among the Nootkans. * * "It is a language confined wholly, I believe, to our Northwestern possessions west of the Rocky Mountains. It originated in the roving, trading spirit of the tribes, and has been added to and increased since the introduction of the whites among them."—The Northwest Coast.

ABBREVIATIONS AND EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Adj. Adjective. "The adjective precedes the noun, as in English and Chinook; as, lasway hakatschum, silk handkerchief; mesahchie tilikum, bad people."—Hale.

Adv. Adverb. "The adverb usually precedes the adjective or verb which it qualifies, though it may sometimes follow the latter."—Hale.

Belbella. Bellabella. "The popular name of an important Kwakiutl tribe living on Milbank Sd., Brit. Col. The language spoken by this tribe is a peculiar dialect of Kwakiutl, called Heiltsuk from the native name of the Bellabella. When voyagers first began frequenting the N. Pacific Coast Milbank Id. was often visited, and its inhabitants were therefore among the first to be modified by European contact."—Hodge. See Olallie.

(C.) Chinookan family of languages. In 1841 the number of Chinook words in the Jargon numbered 111; in 1863, 221; in 1894, 198, the number given in this dictionary. The letters C., E., F., N. and S. refer to the derivation of words, and signify Chinook, English, French, Nootka, and Salish. See Chinook.

(C. & E.) Chinook and English. The letters C. & E. refer to the derivation of the word.

(Can. Fr.) Canadian French. The Canadian voyageurs, as they are called, were more closely in contact with the Indians than any others of the foreigners, from 1810 to 1855. See, bread, flour, overcoat, hat, axe, pipe, mill, table, box, head, mouth, tongue, teeth, neck, hand, foot, run, sing, dance, etc. When the Hudson's Bay Company removed from Oregon and Washington these Canadians also largely left, so a large share of these words of French origin have been dropped.

Cathlamet. A Chinookan tribe formerly residing on the south bank of Columbia river, near its mouth, in Oregon. They adjoined the Clatsop. As a dialect, Cathlamet was spoken by a number of Chinookan tribes on both sides of the Columbia, extending up the river as far as Rainier. It is regarded as belonging to the upper Chinook division of the family.—Hodge. See, Skwis-kwis.

Chihalis. Chehalis. A collective name for several Salishan tribes on Chehalis river and its affluents, and on Grays Harbor, Wash. By many writers they are divided into Upper Chehalis, dwelling above Satsop river, and the Lower Chehalis, from that point down. This dictionary gives 36 words of Chehalis origin. See Elip, moosum, etc.

Chinook (from Tsinuk, their Chehalis name). The Chinook were first described by Lewis and Clark in 1805, though they had been known to traders for at least 12 years previously. From their proximity to Astoria and their intimate relations with the early traders, the Chinook soon became well known, and their language formed the basis for the widely spread Chinook Jargon. Linguistically they were divided into two groups: (1) Lower Chinook, comprising two slightly different dialects, the Chinook proper, and the Clatsop; (2) Upper Chinook, which included all the rest of the tribes, though with numerous slight dialectic differences. The dialects of the Lower Chinook are now practically extinct. Upper Chinook is still spoken by considerable numbers. See Cathlamet, Clatsop, Wasco.

Chippeway. Chippewa. One of the largest tribes north of Mexico, whose range was formerly along both shores of Lake Huron and L. Superior, extending across Minnesota to Turtle Mts., N. Dakota. See Tatoosh.

Clallam. A Salish tribe living on the south side of Puget Sound, Wash., formerly extending from Port Discovery to Hoko river, being bounded at each end by the Chimakum and Makah. Subsequently they occupied Chimakum territory and established a village at Port Townsend.—Hodge. See Toluks.

Clatsop. A Chinookan tribe. The Clatsop is merely a dialect of the Chinook. The language is now practically extinct.

Clayoquot. A Nootka tribe living on Meares Id., and Torfino inlet, Clayoquot Sd., Vancouver Id. See Chako, kokshut, kumtuks.

Conj. Conjunction. "Only two conjunctions, properly speaking, are found in the language, pe and spose."—Hale.

Cree. An important Algonquian tribe of British America. The Cree are closely related, linguistically and otherwise, to the Chippewa. They were friendly from their first intercourse with the English and the French and the Hudson Bay Co. See Mitass, moosmoos, siskiyou.

Ex. Example.

(E.) English. "The words of English origin numbered in 1841, 41; in 1863, 67, and in 1904, 570. Many words of French and Indian origin have been dropped. The English words are used both by Indians and whites when they talk Chinook, and so have become a part of the language."—Eells.

(F.) French. In 1841, 34 words of French origin were in use, in 1863, 94 words, and in 1894, 153 words. For words of French origin see letter L. About thirty words are in use now, and these will soon be dropped, as they are seldom used, except by the old folks.

Interj. Interjection. Of these there are sixteen words and two phrases.

(J) Jargon. Words marked J are considered to be the peculiar property of the Jargon, as having been formed either in imitation of sounds or by some casual invention.—Hale. Seee Onoma.

Kalapuya. Kalapooian Family. A group of tribes formerly occupying the valley of Willamette river, N. W. Oregon, and speaking a distinct stock language.

Klaokwat. See Clayoquot.

Klikatat. Klikitat. A Shahaptian tribe whose former seat was at the head waters of the Cowlitz, Lewis, White Salmon, and Klickitat rivers, north of Columbia river, in Klickitat and Skamania counties, Wash. Their eastern neighbors were the Yakima, who speak a closely related language, and on the west they were met by various Salishan and Chinookan tribes. They were enterprising traders, widely known as intermediaries between the Coast tribes and those living east of the Cascade range. The Topenish are probably their nearest relatives.—Hodge. See Moosmoos, Nawitka, Hoolhool.

Lummi. A Salish tribe on and inland from Bellingham Bay, N. W. Wash. The Lummi are now under the jurisdiction of the Tulalip school superintendent, Washington. See Kullaghan.

Makah. The southernmost tribe of the Wakashan stock, the only one within the United States. They belong to the Nootka branch. By treaty of Neah Bay, Wash., Jan. 31, 1855, the Makah ceded all their lands at the mouth of the Strait of Juan de Fuca except the immediate area including Cape Flattery. The Ozette reservation was established by order of April 12, 1893.—Hodge. See Kloshe. Mahkook.

n. Noun. "There are far more nouns in the language than there are words in any other part of speech or even in all the other parts combined."—Eells.

(N.) The letter N. refers to the derivation of the word, and signifies Nootka. Nootkas, the conventional generic name of all the tribes in Vancouver and opposite coast, many of whom speak totally different languages.—Keane.

(N. & E.) The letters N. & E. refer to the derivation of the word, and signify Nootka and English.

Nisqually. "A Puget Sound (Columbian) nation, with many sub-tribes whose names end mostly in mish, and will thus be recognized without requiring to be indexed.—Keane.

Nittinat. The Tokwaht. Nittinat and Makah quoted in the dictionary are dialects of the Nootka. (Ahts.) The generic name of most of the tribes on the west coast of Vancouver Island. All speak dialects of the same language. See klatawa, mahkook, mowitsh, peshak, wawa, winawie.

Onoma. Onomatopoeia. Eight or ten words were made by what grammarians term onomatopoeia—that is, were formed by a rude attempt to imitate sound, and are therefore the sole and original property of the Jargon. Considering its mode of formation, one is rather surprised that the number of these words is not greater.—Hale. See liplip, tintin, poo, tiktik, tumtum, tumwata, mahsh, klak, etc.

prep. Preposition. There are nine words and three phrases which are used as prepositions. The principal words are kopa saghalie, over; keekwulee, under; and kunamokst, with; kopa is, however, used more than all the others, as it has a great variety of meanings, which can only be known by the connection, some of which are entirely opposite to each other.

pron. Pronoun. The pronouns are ten in number in the words and seven in the phrases, nearly all the latter being formed by the addition of self to the personal pronouns, as mika self, etc.

Quaere u. d. Unknown or of undetermined derivation. Unmarked words are of doubtful origin.

(S.) Salish. "Salishan tribes held the entire northwestern part of Washington, including the whole of the Puget Sound region, except only the Macaw territory about Cape Flattery, and two insignificant spots, one near Port Townsend, the other on the Pacific coast to the south of Cape Flattery, which were occupied by Chimakuan tribes.—Pilling.

Tokwaht. Merely a dialect of the Nootka.

Twana. A Puget Sound tribe, formerly Twana, but later known as Skokomish; west side Hood's Canal to the Olympics, from Skokomish river on the south to Quilcene, near Port Townsend, on the north.

v. Verb. Verbs come third in number in the words, being exceeded by nouns and adjectives, and second in phrases, and second in both combined. The word mamook placed before various other words forms 209 of these phrases.

Wasco. A Sahaptin (Columbia) tribe, between the Rocky Mountains and the John Day river.

Yakama. The Yakima and Klikitat are dialects of one of the Sahaptin languages.

Note from Eells' Introduction: "A number of dictionaries have been published in the Chinook Jargon language, and it may seem superfluous to write another; still thus far all of them are small and are based on the language as it was forty or fifty years ago. Gibbs' Dictionary was for many years by far the best, and is yet in many respects, as it gives the origin of nearly all the words and much other valuable information, but it was written nearly forty years ago. I have used it very much in preparing this work. Hale's Trade Language of Oregon or Chinook Jargon is recent and is excellent, especially in its Introductory part; far better than any which preceded it, but that excellent man and scholar has labored under the disadvantage of not having mingled much with those who have used the language for about fifty years, and so has been unable to note a great share of the changes which have taken place. The dictionaries of Gill, Hibben, Tate, Lowman and Hanford and Good are all small; are in as condensed form as possible, being intended for pocket use for travellers, traders and learners, and in this way have done good work for what they were intended. The two latter, however, only have the Chinook English part. The dictionary of Durieu is very meager, while that of Demers and St. Onge is out of print, and both are intended rather more for use by the Catholics than by the public." . . . "Having used it (Jargon) for eighteen years, having talked in it, sung in it, prayed and preached in it, translated considerable into it, and thought in it, I thought I knew a little about the language, but when I began to write this dictionary I found that there was very much which I did not know about it, but which I wished to know in order to make this dictionary as perfect as it should be. This is especially so in regard to the pronunciation of words which are not used on Puget Sound, the introduction of new words, and the marking of those which are obsolete. In preparing these pages, I have tried to note the following items,—the different ways of spelling each word with the authority for each, the proper pronunciation, the origin, part of speech, meaning, the place where it is used, if used at all, a sentence or more to show the use of a large share of the words, and the phrases which are derived from a combination of words, which answer to a single word in English."—Skokomish, Union City, March, 1893.

NOTES FROM EELLS' MANUSCRIPT DICTIONARY.

Parker "gives 103 words and phrases."

St. Onge "gives 787 Chinook words and phrases with no English-Chinook part."

Lee and Frost. "In the appendix are 50 words which the authors say are in the Clatsop dialect, but which Gibbs says are in the Jargon. I think some are Clatsop, but some are undoubtedly Jargon."

Dunn. "Thirty Chinook Jargon words and expressions."

Swan. "In the appendix is quite a full vocabulary,—327 words. Judge Swan lived on Shoalwater Bay, Wash., near the Chehalis and Chinook Indians, and he gives quite a number of words which are given by no other writer, which he says are of Chehalis origin. Gibbs rejects many of these, because he thinks that Swan imperceptibly used them as Chinook Jargon, but that they did not properly belong to the language, but to the Chehalis. I have inserted them as being a part of the Jargon of that region at that time, as certainly many English words now in use on Puget Sound are a part of the Jargon of this time and place. The environment always affects the language."

Gibbs. "This was by far the best dictionary at that time and will ever remain a standard authority on the language of that time. In the Chinook-English Part are 490 words, and in the English-Chinook, 792."

Winthrop. "Two hundred and sixty-one Chinook words. There is no English-Chinook part.

Hibben. "The author's name is not given, but it is believed to be Lionnet. It gives very nearly the same words as Gibbs in both parts."

Good. "It has no Chinook-English part. In the English-Chinook he gives 825 words."

Durieu. "431 Chinook Jargon words. No English-Chinook part."

Tate. "It follows Gibbs very closely."

Hale. "473 Chinook Jargon words; 634 in the English-Chinook part."

Gill. "This with its predecessors has been the standard for Oregon for over thirty years. It was first published by S. J. McCormick, and its latest reviser is Rev. W. C. Chatten. In the Chinook-English part are 560 words, and in the English-Chinook, 1378."

Coomes. [L. & H.] "It follows Gill very closely in its Chinook-English part and has no English Chinook part."

Boas. "Gives a short vocabulary of 75 words in the Journal of American Folk Lore, pp. 225-226, obtained at Victoria, B. C., and 24 words, obtained at Shoalwater Bay, Wash.—in Science, March 4, 1892, p. 129. A few words are also given by authority of Dr. W. C. McKay, late of Pendleton, Oregon."

"A comparison of these dictionaries shows Gibbs to be the most scientific and thorough in all things except the spelling. Hibben and Tate agree with it very closely. Hale is a little more independent, but gives the best grammar and literature of all. Gill's is the fullest, and is still more independent. Lowman and Hanford's (Coomes) is almost exactly like the Chinook-English part of Gill's.

St. Onge's is entirely independent of all the others, and the most scientific in the spelling; Durieu's is meagre, but more nearly like St. Onge's than any other in regard to spelling. Good's is the most modern, omitting many obsolete words, and introducing many new ones, but his spelling is at fault, as he often spells the same words in different ways, even three or four ways. The rest of the dictionaries are local and small, but valuable because gathered so early."

THE CHINOOK JARGON

Ahn'-kut-tie, or Ah'n-kut-te, adv. (C) (Chinook,-ankutti.) Formerly; before now; long ago; anciently; ago. (With the accent prolonged on the first syllable, a very long time ago; anciently. The longer the first syllable is held, the longer the time expressed.) Example: Hyas ahnkuttie,—a very long time ago. Tenas ahnkuttie,—a little while ago. Kunjih laly ahnkuttie?—how long ago? Tahtlum sun ahnkuttie,—ten days ago. (Siah ahnkuttie,—very ancient,—lit., far ago. A great deal is expressed by the mere stress of the voice; hyas—dwelling long on the last syllable—means exceedingly great; hyak, very quick; hiyu, a great many; tenas, very small, &c.) Delate ahnkuttie,—very long ago. "In Chinook the verb is absolutely inflexible, it never changes its form for mood, tense or anything else; these are always indicated by the agglutination of a word indicating the mood, tense, etc. The idea of tense is most simple and rudimentary, that is, past, present and future; ahnkuttie, alta, alki."—Buchanan.

Note—"A Chinook word is elastic and expresses a broad and general idea rather than one altogether specific, hence the extreme elasticity of the Chinook jargon. Specific ideas must be expressed by qualifiers or modifiers added to the word, as will be readily seen in practice. Each word is a tool whose general uses and whose specific uses must be mastered before successful work can be done or satisfactory progress be made."—Buchanan. Ex.: Anhkuttie mama,—a grandmother. Ahnkuttie papa,—a grandfather; an ancestor; forefather; progenitor. Ahnkuttie tillikums,—ancestors; ancient people. Ahnkuttie tillikums klaska wawa,—traditions. Ahnkuttie laly,—long ago.

"Time: Present, Past and Future. In indicating time in the Chinook jargon the verb does not change its form at all; it is absolutely inflexible as far as change of the word form is concerned, and the idea of time is added by adding a word to indicate that—thus alki (by and by), after awhile, in the future) to indicate future time; ahncutty (in the past, some time ago, a long time ago, once upon a time) to indicate past time; and alta (now) to indicate present time where it is important to emphasize the fact that present time and only present time is indicated. Ordinarily if the time is omitted or not specified it is understood to be present time, naturally. Intensity of meaning or duration of time may also be indicated by prolongation of the sounding of a word, thus: laly (time)—la-a-a-aly (a long time). This is based upon an instinctive principle common to all tongues, just as we in English phonetically indicate prolongation of time or extension in space or intensity of feeling by means of the intonation. So we say 'a long time' and 'a lo-o-o-o-ng time."—Buchanan.

Note—"A thorough knowledge of a few dozen words will give one sufficient material with which, after actual practice, to carry on ordinary conversations. In practice the sentences are built up by agglutination or association of words, just as a child builds houses and various other wonderful structures from its blocks. In so doing there is always a very wide sphere for the exercise of ingenuity on the part of the speaker, and upon this, in a measure, depends the skill with which he may handle Chinook and convey his thoughts therein. The jargon is essentially a spoken and not a written tongue—it is very much alive. Spelling. There are no hard and fast rules for the spelling of words, and everyone in writing Chinook follows the dictates of his own judgment in the fabrication of phonetic equivalents, which are at best only approximations." —Buchanan.

Note. The letters (C)., (E)., (F)., (N). and (S). refer to the derivation of words, and signify Chinook, English, French, Nootka, and Salish. Words marked (J) are considered to be the peculiar property of the Jargon, as having been formed either in imitation of sounds or by some casual invention. Words marked (Quaere u. d.) are of doubtful or undetermined origin. The cognates follow in parenthesis, as, (C). (Chinook,-ankutti). A pronouncing vocabulary immediately follows the list of useful words. A supplemental vocabulary of archaic or unusual words comes next. Then follows the English-Chinook part. (See Explanatory notes.)

"It may not at first be easy to comprehend how a language composed of so few words, thus inartificially combined, can be extensively used as the sole medium of communication among many thousand individuals. . . . But it is in the faculty of combining and compounding its simple vocables—a power which it doubtless derives, in some degree, from its connection with the Indian tongues—that the jargon has its capacity for expression almost indefinitely extended. Three or four hundred words may be learned without difficulty in a week or two, and a very short time will make the learner familiar with their ordinary use and construction. He will then have no difficulty in understanding the numerous compounds which, if they had been simple words, would have cost him much additional labour."—Hale.

Al'-ki, adv. (C). (Chinook, alekh). In the future; by and by; after a while; soon; presently; directly; in a little while; hold on; not so fast. "The sign of the future tense, shall or will. The days of the week, and the number of weeks, months and years are also used to designate the tenses."—Bells. Ex.: Nika kumtuks,—I understand. Nika kumtuks alta,—I understand now. Nika kumtuks ahnkuttie,—I understood; I understood some time ago.

Nika kumtuks alki,—I will understand; I will understand by and by; I will understand after a while. This indicates the manner of indicating tense, that is, indicating time. "— Buchanan." September 25, 1851. While looking around Low and Terry concluded to locate a townsite, and with that view made a joint location on Alki Point. The Terrys being New Yorkers, first named the place New York, but afterwards changed it to Alki which all old settlers know signifies "by and by," "before long".—A. A. Denny. Tenas alki,—in a little while. Alki nika klatawa,—I will go presently. Iskum dolla, alki pay,—to borrow.

Alki nesika klatawa kopa nika boat,—soon we will go in my boat.

"In general the tense of the verb is left to be inferred from the context. When it is absolutely necessary to distinguish time, certain adverbs are employed: as chee, alta, alki, ahnkuttie, okoke-sun, tomolla, tahlkie, ikt tahlkie." —Hale.

Al'-ta, or Al'tah, adv. (C). (Chinook, altakh). Now, at the present time. Ex.: Alta yaka chako,—now he comes. Nika skookum alta,—I am strong now, wake alta,—not now.

Ats, n. (C). (Chinook,-ats. Yakima,-atse). A sister; a younger sister. In the original, only when used by her brother. Ex.: Elip ats,—an older sister. Ats yaka man,—a brother-in-law. Mama, or papa yaka ats, an aunt. (see kahpho). "Sister is used on Puget Sound. Sister yaka tenas klootchman, —a niece."—Boas. (The word Ats is becoming obsolete.)

Boat, n. (English, idem). A boat, as distinguished from a canoe; a skiff. Ex.: Kopa boat,—aboard. Klahanie kopa boat,—overboard.

Book, n. (English,-idem). A book; volume; pocketbook. Example: Saghalie Tyee yaka book,—The Bible. (Literally,—God, his book). Tenas book,—a pamphlet. Book yaka mamook kumtuks nesika kopa illahee,—a geography. Book yaka mamook kumtuks nesika kopa kwunnum,—an arithmetic. Book yaka mamook kumtuks nesika kopa lalang,—a grammar. Book yaka mamook kumtuks nesika kopa nesika,—a physiology. Book yaka mamook kumtuks nesika kopa stone,—a geology.

Bos'-ton, n., adj. An American; American. A name derived from the hailing-place of the first trading ships to the Pacific. Example: Boston illahie,—the United States. Mika kumtuks Boston wawa?—do you understand English? Boston plie,—protestantism. Sitkum-siwash-sitkum-Boston,—a half-breed.

By-by, adv. (E). By-and-by; after a while; sometime hence. It means a longer time in the future than alki, but like that is used for shall or will as a sign of future time. With the accent on the first syllable, prolonged, it means a very long time hence.

Ca-nim, n. (C). (Chinook,-Ekanim). A canoe. Ex.: Canim stick,—the cedar or wood from which canoes are usually made. Klatawa kopa canim,—to embark.

Ca-po', n. (E). (French,-Capot). A coat.

Cha'-ko, chah'-ko, or chahco, v. (N). Nootka, clayoquot,—chako; Tokwaht,—tchokwa). To come; to approach; to be or become. "In this latter sense it forms the passive voice in connection with many other words. Often it is joined with adjectives and nouns, and forms other verbs. Yaka chako pahtlum, he is drunk; nika chako keekwulee,—I am degraded; yaka chako stone,—it is petrified. Perhaps more properly the word in this connection to become, than to be, at least it is often so, as in the latter example the meaning would also be,—to become stone; chako rotten,—is to become rotten. Occasionally too the passive voice is shown by placing the word iskum before the main word, as, yaka iskum kow,—he is arrested."—Eells. Ex.: Nika chako kopa Poteland,—I came from Portland. Kloshe mika hyak chako,—good you come quick. Chuck chako,—the tide is rising—(literally, is coming). Chuck chako pe klatawa,—the tides. Halo chako,—to linger. Wake kunjih yaka chako halo,—Indellible,—(literally,—never will it become gone). Chako Boston,—to become an American; often said of Indians who are becoming civilized like white people. Chako delate,—to become right, true, or good. Chako delate till,—to become exhausted. Chako hyas tum tum,—to become proud. Chako huloima,—to vary; to become different. Chako kah nika nanitch,—to appear. Chako kloshe tumtum,—to love; to reform; to become friendly; to get a good heart. Chako kloshe,—to get well; to become good. Chako kunamokst,—to congregate; assemble; convene; meet; unite; join. Chako mimolouse,—to die; to become rotten; to become decayed (as potatoes or vegetables). Chako pahtlum,—to become drunk. Chako skookum,—to become strong, especially after a sickness, to show complete recovery. Chako solleks.—to become angry; to quarrel. Chako pelton,—to become foolish; to be cheated. Chako waum tumtum,—to be earnest; to become excited. Chako youtl tumtum,—to become glad; to be glad. Chako polaklie,—to become dark; night is coming. Chako oleman,—to become old. Chako halo,—to be destroyed; to disappear; to vanish; to be all gone. Chako elip hiyu,—to exceed. Chako kunamokst nika.—come with me.

Chee, adv., adj. (C). (Chinook,-t'shi). Lately; just now; new; fresh; original; recent. Example: Chee nika ko,—I have just arrived. Hyas chee,—entirely new, very new. Chee chako,—a new comer; just arrived. Delate chee,—entirely new. Klootchman yaka chee malieh,—a bride.

Chik'-a-min, n., adj. (N). (Tokwaht,-tsikamen:Nootka,—sickaminny (Jewitt); seekemaile,—(Cook). Iron; metal; metallic; steel; money; cash; mineral. Example: T'kope chikamin, (white metal), silver. Pil chikamin, or chikamin pil (yellow metal),—gold or copper. Chikamin lope,—wire; a chain. Nika hyas tikegh chikamin,—I very much wish money. Illahee kah chikamin mitlite,—mines.

Chik'-chik, (Tsik'-tsik, or Tchik'-tchik), n. (J). By onoma. A wagon; a cart; a wheel; any wheeled vehicle. Example: Tsiktsik wayhut,—a wagon-road. Nika chako kopa chikchik,—I came in a wagon. Piah chikchik,—railroad cars. Lolo kopa chikchik,—to haul in a wagon.

Chinook—*(Chinook Indians). These Indians formerly lived near the mouth of the Columbia river, where the Chinook Jargon language was mainly developed in its formative period, and hence more words were adopted into it from that language than any other Indian language, and so its name was given to the language. Properly speaking the Chinook language means the old Chinook, and the Chinook Jargon the language described in this dictionary; but the old Chinook is about obsolete, and for the save of brevity, Chinook wawa means in common conversation the Chinook Jargon, while the proper language of the Chinook tribe is called the Old Chinook. The Chinook land and Chinook Indians have, however, reference to the tribe as it formerly existed. —Eells.

Chinook wind. The Chinook is always a strong, steady southerly wind, never from any other point of the compass, unless it be slightly southwesterly. It is distinctly peculiar to the Northwest Pacific coast and its source is far out in the nasty storm center of the Pacific ocean, emanating from the famed Japan current, which is the source of the remarkable humidity of the North Pacific coast.

Chinook canim,—the large canoe used on Puget Sound. Chinook illahee,—the land of the Chinook Indians. Chinook tillikums,—the Chinook Indians. Chinook wawa,—the Chinook language. Example: Mika kumtux Chinook wawa? Do you understand the Chinook language?

Chitsh, n. (S). (Chehalis,-tshitsh). A grandmother. (Gibbs, Gill, Hibben, St. Onge and Swan, give chope for grandfather; but Hale and Tate give the meaning as grandfather and chope as grandmother. Eells says "I never heard either word used on Puget Sound." Eells gives the following: Ex.: Grandmother, —mama yaka mama; grandmama; nitz. Papa yaka papa,—grandfather. Tenas yaka tenas klootchman,—granddaughter. Tenas yaka tenas man,—grandson. Te- nas yaka tenas,—grandchild.

Chope, n. (S). (Chihalis,-tshup). A grandfather. (Hale says, a grandmother). See chitsh.

Chuck, n. (N). (Nootka,-Chauk (Cook); Chahak,—fresh water (Jewitt); Chinook,-Tltsuk (Shortess); Clatsop,-Tl'chukw). Water; a river or stream. Example: Salt chuck,—the sea; skookum chuck,—(powerful water),—a rapid; solleks chuck,—a rough sea; chuck chahko or kalipi,—the tide rises or falls; saghali and keekwillie chuck,—high and low tide. Kah mitlite chuck?—where is the water? Muchamuck chuck,—to drink water. Olo kopa chuck,—thirsty.

Cly, or kely, v. (E). To cry, lament; mourning, weeping. Ex.: Cly tumtum,—to cry in the heart; to feel sorry; to repent; to mourn; to be full of grief or emotion; "more deep in feeling than sick tumtum."—Eells.

Cole, adj. (E). Cold; a year. Ex.: Hyas cole,—very cold; freezing. Cole illahee,—winter. Cole snass,—hail; snow. Cole chuck,—ice; cold water. Cole sick,—ague; a cold. Cole sick-waum sick,—fever and ague. Ikt cole,—a year. Tahtlum cole,—ten years. Ikt tukamonuk cole,—a century. Kah cole chako,—north. Kah delate cole mitlite,—Arctic.

Coo'-ley, v. (F). (French, Courez, imp. of Courir). To run; go about; play; walk; travel. Example: Cooley kiuatan,—a race-horse; yahka hyas kumtuks cooley,—he can, i. e., knows how to run well. Cultus cooley,—to saunter; ramble; stroll. Hyak cooley,—to run; canter; go fast. Kopet cooley,—to halt; to stop. Mamook cooley kopa huloima lalang,—i. e.—to make go in another language; to interpret.

Co'-sho, n. (F). (French,-cochon). A hog; pork; pig; swine; ham; bacon. Example: Siwash cosho,—a seal; literally, —Indian pig. Dly cosho,—bacon; ham. Kloochman cosho,—a sow. Tenas cosho,—a pig. Cosho glease,—lard. Cosho itlwillie,—pork.

Court, n. (E). A court. Ex.: Haul kopa court,—to try in court. Hyas court,—supreme court. Mamook court,—to hold court. Tzum man kopa court,—the clerk of the court. Tyee kopa court,—a judge. Lolo kopa hyas court,—to appeal. Wawa kopa court,—to testify; testimony.

Cul'-tus, or Kul'tus, adj. (C.) (Chinook.-Kaltas). Worthless; good for nothing; without purpose; abject, barren; bad; common; careless; defective; dissolute; filthy; foul; futile; rude; immaterial; impertinent; impolite; no matter; shabby; slippery; unmeaning; untoward; useless; paltry; worn out. "A few words," says Eells, "are very expressive, meaning so much, and expressing that meaning in so much better a way than our English words do that they have often been adopted into English in the region where the Chinook is used. Of these may be mentioned cultus,—good for nothing, with also twenty-three other meanings. Kloshe, with its forty-two meanings; Kloshe nanitch, with its eighteen meanings; Tamahnous, sorcery, yet referring as a noun, adjective and verb, to anything supernatural, or in the spirit world between Satan on the one hand and God on the other: Tumtum, mind, with its fifteen meanings; and wawa, talk, with its sixty-five meanings." Example: Cultus man,—a worthless fellow. Cultus potlatch,—a present or free gift; a benefaction. Cultes heehee,—a jest; merely laughing. Cultus nannitsh,—to look around. Cultus mitlite,—to sit idle; to do nothing. Cultus klatawa,—to stroll. Cultus eena,—a muskrat. Ques. What do you want? Ans. Cultus, i. e., nothing. Cultus kopa mika,—none of your business; nothing to you. Cultus kopa nika,—I do not care; nothing to me. Cultus potlatch tumtum,—to give advice; to advise; to counsel. Cultus wawa,—a joke; a jest; nonsense; rumor; tattle; report. Delate cultus,—no manner of use. "Cultus,—idle, aimless, worthless; also bad, in the sense of having no value, that is being useless."—Buchanan.

De-late', or De-lett, adj., adv. (F). (French,-droite). Straight; direct; without equivocation; true; truly, exactly; correct; exact; genuine; just; plain; precise; really; thorough; sincerely; surely; sincere; sure; accurate; verily; undoubted; authentic; certain; definite; definitely; erect; very; correctly. Example: Klatawa delate,—go straight Delate wawa,—tell the truth; a fact; promise; true talk. Delate kwinnum cole ahnkuttie,—just five years ago. Delate nika sick tumtum,—I am very sorry. Okoke delate,—it is right. Wake delate,—not exactly right; imperfect. Wawa delate,—to speak the truth; to speak correctly. Delate hyas,—stupendous; immense; enormous. Delate hyas kloshe,—magnificent; majestic; very,. very good. Delate kloshe,—perfect; pure, exquisite; very good. Delate kumtuks,—sure; to prove; to know certainly. Delate pahtl,—brimfull; chockfull. Delate sick tum tum,—grief; very sad. Delate tenas sun,—dawn; daybreak. Delate yaka illahee,—a native; native land. Delate yaka kumtuks,—an expert. Delate nika wawa,—I am speaking the truth.

Diaub, Deaub, Dahblo, or Yaub,—(the devil) see Lejaub.

D'ly, or De-ly, ad. (E). Dry; arid; dryness. Example: Chahko dely,—to become dry. Mamook dely,—to dry. Dly tupso,—hay.

Doc'-tin, n. (E). A doctor; a physician; surgeon. Eells says, "It almost universally refers to a white man, unless some word is connected with it to qualify it." Example: Nika tikegh doctin,—I want the doctor. Siwash doctin,—an Indian doctor or conjurer. Doctin kopa letah or teeth,—a dentist. Doctin kopa seahost,—an oculist.

E'-lip, or El'-ip, adv. (S). (Chehalis,-ilip). First; before; the superlative; beginning; prior; ahead; senior; elder; former; original. "The comparative is usually formed by prefixing the word elip to the adjective, as kloshe, good; elip kloshe, better; skookum, strong; elip skookum, stronger; hiyu, many; elip hiyu, more; tenas, small; elip tenas, smaller. The superlative is properly formed by adding the words kopa konoway, 'than all' to the comparative, as elip kloshe kopa konoway, better than all, i. e., the best."—Eells. "There is no such thing in Chinook as comparison by inflection of a word as is the case in English (weak, weaker, weakest ,for example). This is done by means of the words elip or kimtah to indicate the comparative degree (the word itself always indicating, as in English, the positive degree). Delayt added to the comparative form converts it into the superlative from. Klosh, elip klosh, delayt elip klosh. Klosh, kimtah klosh. Delayt kimtah klosh."—Buchanan. "Comparison is expressed by a periphrasis. 'I am stronger than thou,' would be wake mika skookum kahkwa nika; lit., 'thou not strong as I.' The superlative is indicated by adverbs; as hyas oleman okook canim, that canoe is the oldest, lit., 'very old that canoe."—Hale. (A few other ways of spelling the word elip; alip; ilip; ellip; ilep; ilips.) Ex.: Elip hyas,—larger; greater; major. Elip hyas kopa konoway,—largest; greatest. Elip hiyu,—more; majority; excess. Elip hiyu kopa konoway,—most; maximum. Elip keekwilee,—lower. Elip keekwilee kopa konoway,—lowest. Elip kloshe,—better; superior; more excellent. Elip kloshe kopa konoway,—best; supreme. Elip kloshe kopa okoke,—better than that. Elip sitkum sun,—forenoon. Elip tenas,—first born; minor; less; younger. Elip tenas kopa konoway,—least; youngest. Elip saghalie,—higher; upper. Elip saghalie kopa konoway,—highest. Elip mesachie,—worse. Elip mesachie kopa konoway,—worst. Elip siah,—farther. Elip siah kopa konoway,—farthest. Elip tikegh,—to prefer; rather; choose. Elip wawa,—a preface; a prophecy. Mika klatawa elip, nika kimta,—you go first, I (will go) afterwards."—Eells. Ex.: "Elip sitkum tintin,—before half an hour. Elip sitkum sun,—before noon; forenoon. Kimtah,—after; behind. Kimtah klosh,—worse. Kimtah skookum,—less strong; not so strong. Delayt kimtah klosh,—worst. Delayt kimtah skookum,—least strong. Elip tahkum tintin,—before six o'clock. Kimtah tahkum tintin,—after six o'clock. Tahkum tintin,—six o'clock, six hours. Wake siah tahkum tintin,—almost six o'clock; not far away from six o'clock."—Buchanan.

Ka-lak'-a-la, Kul-lak'-a-la, Kul'-la-kul'-la, n. (C). (Chinook,-kalakala). A bird; fowl; insect; wing. (The accent sometimes being on the second, and sometimes on the first and third syllables.—Eells. Note.—"The different ways in which some words are spelled is a curiosity, and simply show what educated men will do in this line when they have no standard authority. Very seldom is any word, even the simplest and easy one, spelled in the same way, if it is found in several dictionaries, while some of them are spelled in very many different ways."—Eells. Other ways of spelling kalakala: Culacula; kallakala; kalahkalah; kilakila; kulakula; kullukala; cullaculla; cullerculler; cullacullah; kullakullie; kullukullie; kulakulla, etc. An examination of many dictionaries will show among other words,—klonas, spelled in ten different ways; ahnkuttie and keewulee, each in twelve; klootchman and kliminawhit, each in fifteen; klatawa, seahost, and mimoluse, each in sixteen; tahtlum, kalakala, and kilapi, each in eighteen; and kunjih in nineteen different ways; lejaub is in twelve ways, and ooakut in fourteen, but they show a wide variety of sound, lejaub being also dahblo, diaub, derb, leiom, and yaub; and ooakut being hooihut, wayhut, wehkut, and oyhut. Even words which are derived from the English generally have different spellings as soon as the standard English authority is left, so that glease from grease becomes gleese, gleece, glis, and klis; bed is also spelled pet; moon is also mun; nose is also nos; stone is also ston; stocking is also stocken, staken, and stoken; sun is also son; Sunday is also sante; tea is also ti; pehpah (paper) is also papeh, paper, paypa, papah, and pepa, and peppah; and warm also is spelled waum, wam, wahm, and wawm. Shot, skin, man, and a few others have for almost a wonder found no other way of being spelled. There are three reasons for this difference which may be made when the same sound of the letters is preserved, thus wam may be waum or wawm and still preserve the same sound of a. Again, when any writer adopts a regular schedule of sounds for each vowel, he will surely differ in spelling from those who attempt to follow as near as possible the English mode of spelling. Boas, St. Onge, and to a considerable degree Durien have done this, hence tea becomes ti; poolie, puli, and so on. Still farther different modes of pronunciation in different localities, and sometimes in the same locality, are the cause of different ways of spelling. This is especially seen in the words already referred to, ooakut, and lejaub; so kloshe becomes tlush or tloos, and also a large number beginning with kl begin with tl in another place; tahlkie becomes tahnlkie, and so on. Sometimes indeed it is very difficult to discover the true sound, as for instance, whether the first syllable of kalakala should be spelled with an a or u, or the last one of tukamonuk with an a or u, and so on. The mode of pronunciation, and hence the mode of spelling, has undoubtedly changed somewhat since Parker in 1835-6 wrote the first vocabulary. Hence in comparing the ways of spelling the reader ought to remember the place where, the date when, and the system of pronunciation, especially of vowel sounds adopted by each writer."—Eells.

"As will be seen, the orthography of the Jargon is unsettled and capricious. Most writers spell Indian and French words 'by the ear,' but use the ordinary English spelling for the English words comprised in the language, without regard to uniformity....Some writers, however, retain in the Jargon the 'digraph' gh, to express, in some words of Chinook origin, the sound of the German guttural ch in Buch."—Hale. "As the Jargon is to be spoken by Englishmen and Frenchmen, and by Indians of at least a dozen tribes, so as to be alike easy and intelligible to all, it must admit no sound which cannot be readily pronounced by all. The numerous harsh Indian gutturals either disappear entirely, or are softened to h and k, (see note above). On the other hand, the d, f, g, r, v, z, of the English and French become in the mouth of a Chinook, t, p, k, l, w, and s. The English j, (dzh), is changed to ch, (tsh). The French nasal n, is dropped, or is retained without its nasal sound. In writing the Indian words, the gutturals are expressed by gh (or kh) and q, and the vowels have their Italian sound."—Hale.

Kam'-ass, or La'-kam-ass, n. (N). The Scilla Esculenta,—a bulbous root used for food by the Indians, sometimes called Siwash onion. (Jewitt gives 'Chamass" as the Nootka for fruit, also for sweet, or pleasant to the taste.) (Lacamass is the name of a place in Clarke County, Wash.) (A few other ways of spelling kamass: .Camas, kamas, lakamas, lakammas, camash, kamaas, lackamas. "Cammassa esculenta, or la cammass, (as the French call it)."—Swan.

Mam'-ook, n., v. (N). (Nootka,-mamuk.) To make; to do; to work; labor; exertion; exercise; act; action; deed; work; enact; appoint; accomplish; make; manage; operate; practice; resolve; serve; use; toil; a job; task; achieve, the one word denoting action. "The most useful of all Chinook words, as it is prefixed to many nouns, verbs and adjectives and makes them active verbs; hence, more than any other word it is the sign of the active voice."—Eells. "On Puget Sound it is probably the most common word in use. I have given 209 phrases which begin with it, which answer to a single English word." Dr. Boas says, however, it has acquired an obscene meaning and is no longer in use on the Columbia river. "Used generally as a causative verb, as ,mamook chako (make to come) bring; mamook liplip, make to boil,"—Hale. Ex.: Ikta mika mamook?—what are you doing? Mamook elip,—to begin; commence. Mamook halo,—to demolish; destroy; erase; ruin; efface; evacuate; overthrow; repeal. Mamook haul,—to haul; subtract; extract; pull; pull off; pick (as apples); dig (as potatoes). Mamook huyhuy,—to change; trade; exchange. Mamook kloshe,—to make good; shine; trim; heal; pacify; remedy; repair; prepare; please; sure; to make safe; sure; or useful. Mamook tumtum,—to think; reason; meditate; reckon; ponder; review; muse; decide; determine; surmise; plan; account; appraise; elect; be amazed; estimate; decide; deduce; de-Mokst, Mox, or Moxt, adj. (C). (Chinook,-Makst.) Two; twice; double; dual; couple; pair; second. Example: Mokst tahtlum,—twenty. Mokst tukamonnk,—200. Mokst tumtum,—double minded; dubious; in doubt.

Moo'la, n. (F). (French,-Moulin.) A mill; a manufactory. Example: Laplash, or stick moola,—a saw-mill. Sapolil moola,—a flour-mill.

Moo'-lack, n. (C). (Chinook,-Emuluk.) An elk. (This word, strangely enough, occurs also in the Koquilth of Humbolt Bay.) The word is obsolete now.

Moon, n. (E). (English,-idem.) The moon. Example: Ikt moon,—a month. Sick moon,—the wane or old moon. Chee moon,—the new moon. Kopa mokst moon nika kilapie,—in two months I will return.

Moos'-moos, n. (K. C.) (Klikatat,-Musmus; Chinook,-Emusmus.) Buffalo; horned cattle; beef. (The word, slightly varied, is common to several languages. Mr. Anderson derives it from the Cree word Moostoos, a Buffalo, and supposes it to have been imported by the Canadians; but Father Pandosy makes Musmus Yakima.) (Eells says: "The Clallams and Twanas have adopted it into their languages, either from the Chinook Jargon, the Yakama or some other native language; my opinion is that the latter is true, as buffalo skins were brought to Puget Sound from the Yakama long before the whites came, and the name naturally came with it; so the Yakamas undoubtedly had a name for them long before the Canadians came.") Example: Yaka mitlite taghum moosmoos,—he has six cattle. Man yaka kumtuks mamook mimoloose moosmoos,—a butcher.

Moo'-sum, v., n. (S). (Chihalis,-Musam.) To sleep; sleep; asleep; slumber. Ex.: Tikegh moosum, or olo moosum,—to be sleepy (literally, to want, or be hungry for sleep). Yaka moosum alta,—he sleeps now. Nika hyas moosum,—I slept very sound.

Mow-itsh, Mow-itch, or Mah'-witsh, n. (N). (Nootka,-Mauitsh (Hale); Nittinat,-Moitsh.—a deer; Nootka,-Moowatsh,—a bear (Jewitt). A deer; venison; animal. (Frequently used to signify a wild animal: as, Huloima mowitsh,—a strange or different kind of beast. The meaning given in Jewitt's book is probably a misprint. Like Moolock, an elk, the word is found in the Koquilth of Humbolt Bay.) (Other spellings: Mahwitch; mawich; mawitsh; mowich; mowitsh; moueech; mouits; wowich.)

Muck-a-muck, n., v. (Quaere u. d. Makamak (Hale). (Neither Chinook nor Chihalis. Mr. Anderson considers it an invented word.) To eat; bite; food; imbibe; lunch; chew; browse; devour; suck food; nutrition; picnic; subsistence; ailment; diet; feast. (Muckamuck is to take anything into the mouth; hence, muckamuck salmun, to eat salmon; muckamuck chuck, to drink water; muckamuck kinootl, to smoke or chew tobacco."—Hale.) Example: Mamook piah muckamuck,—to cook food. Potlatch muckamuck,—to feed. Sail kopa mamook kloshe lapush spose nesika muckamuck,—a napkin. Muckamuck chuck, &c.,—to drink water, or other liquid. Muckamuck kopa polaklie,—supper. Muckamuck kopa sitkum sun,—dinner. Muckamuck kopa tenas sun,—breakfast. (Other ways of spelling: Mackamack; makmak; mokamok; mucamuc; mucamuck; muckermuc; mukamuck; mukamuck; makamak.)

Mus'-ket, n. (English,-idem.) A gun or musket. Stick musket,—a bow.

N

Na,—the interrogative particle. "Interrogation is, however, generally conveyed by intonation only."—Gibbs. "The negative enclitic, 'na,' in use in former years, is now obsolete, and is never heard now—on Puget Sound at least."—Buchanan.

Na'-ha, or Na-ah, n. (C). (Chinook,-Tlkanaa.) A mother, (Hale.) Peculiar to the Columbia, and now in fact obsolete, the English 'mama' being used instead."—Gibbs. "St Onge is the only writer who uses it."—Eells.

Nah, interj. (Common to several languages.) Behold; look; look here; ha; hey; look here; I say; listen; here; ho; hark; harken; say. Example: Nah sikhs!—halloo friend! (Used in common conversation to call attention to some point not thoroughly understood, but generally nanitch is used for this purpose. In the Yakama language, it is the sign of the vocative; as Nah tehn!—O man.)

Nan'-itsh, or Nan-ich, v. (Quaere u. d.) (Nootka,-Nananitch.—Eells.) To see; look; look for; seek; observe; glance; view; perceive; behold; listen; look here. ("Often used in a sentence to call attention to a certain point, as,—see here.) Example: Nanitsh!—look there! Kloshe nanitsh!—look out! take care! be careful; nourish; be cautious; nurse; defend; preserve; entertain; protect; foster; steady; guard; tend; take heed; supervise; watch; provide. Cultus nanitsh,—to look round idly, or from curiosity only. Mamook nanitsh,—to show. (The word is neither Chinook nor Chihalis. Dr. Scouler gives nannanitsh as Nootka and Columbian. It is possibly the former.)

Na-wit'-ka, adv. (C). (Chinook,-idem); Klikatat and Yakama,-N'witka.) Yes; certainly; yes, indeed; to be sure; aye; assuredly; indeed. Example: Nawitka nika klatawa,—yes, I will go. Nawitka wake nika kumtuks,—indeed I don't know. Klonass nawitka,—perhaps; probably so. Wawa nawitka,—to permit; acquiesce; assent; consent; accord. (In answer to a negative question, many Indians use it as affirming the negative.) Example: Wake mika nanitsh?—did you not see (it)? Nawitka,—I did not.

Nem, n. (E). (English,-Name.) A name. Example: Mamook nem,—to name, or call by name. Kloshe nem,—honor; a good name. Hyas kloshe nem,—a great name.

Ne-si'-ka, pron. (C). (Chinook,-Nisai-ka.) (Among the Quinaielt Indians I found in 1892 that it is pronounced en-si-ka."—Eells.) We; us; our. Example: Chako kopa nesika,—come to us. Alki nesika klatawa,—soon we will go. Nesika kuitan delate till,—our horses are very tired. Nesika self,—ourselves.

Ne'-whah, (C). (Chinook,-Niwha.) It seems to be an adverb used, as is often the case, as a verb, the meaning being hither, come, or bring it hither. Ex.: Newhah nika nanitsh,—here, let me see it.

Ni'-ka, pron. (C). (Chinook,-Naika.) I; me; my; mine. The first person, singular, in all cases. Ex.: "The personal pronouns become possessive merely by being prefixed to nouns; as, nika house, my house; mika papa, thy father; nesika illahee, our land."—Hale. "Sometimes s is added to the personal pronouns in the possessive case; thus nikas,—mine; mikas,—yours; yakas,—his, hers, its; nesikas,—ours; mesikas,—yours; klaskas,—theirs. This mode is generally used only when the pronoun is the last word in the sentence, thus: Okoke kiuatan nikas."—Eells. Nika nanitch yaka,—I see him. Yaka kokshut nika,—he hit me. Nika klootchman,—my wife. Nika man,—my husband. Nika self,—myself. Nika tenas man,—my boy; son; sweetheart. Nika tenas klootchman,—my girl; daughter; sweetheart. Nika tumtum,—I guess; think. Nika tumtum kahkwa,—I approve; I think so.

Numerals: The numerals below a thousand are all from the Old Chinook, and are as follows: .Ikt,—one; mokst,—two; klone,—three; lakit,—four; kwinnum,—five; taghum,—six; sinamokst,—seven; stotekin,—eight; kweest,—nine; tahtlum,—ten; tukamonuk,—one hundred. For some reason the words for eight and nine are used but little, either being replaced by the English words eight and nine, or by the combinations for five and three, kwinnum pe klone, and five and four, kwinnum pe lakit. Thousand is either represented by the words tahtlum tukamonuk,—ten hundred, or by the word thousand. Ross (1849) gives hioh, (probably hiyu, many) as the word for thousand; hioh-hioh,—two thousand; hioh-hioh-hioh,—three thousand; and hioh-hioh-hioh-hioh,—four thousand."—Eells. The combinations of the numerals are simple, as tahtlum pe ikt (ten and one) eleven; mokst tahtlum pe kwinnum (two tens and five) twenty-five; taghum tahtlum (six tens) sixty; klone tukamonuk,—three hundred; ikt thousand (or tahtlum tukamonuk) stotekin tukamonuk, kweest tahtlum pe klone,—one thousand, eight hundred and ninety-three."—Eells.

Nose, n. (English,-idem.) "(Buck-sid (Indian,-Common.) Bock-s'd."—Buchanan. The nose; also, a promontory. Boat nose,—the bow of a boat. Example: Yaka mamook camp kopa nose,—he is camped at the spit.

O

O'-koke, or O'-kook, pron. (C). (Chinook,-Okok.) This; that; it; these; those; (differentiate by pointing). (Okoke, this or that, is the only demonstrative pronoun.) Example: Iktah okoke?—what is that? Okoke klaksta,—he who. Okoke klaska,—they (being present). (It is often abbreviated to oke; as, oke sun.—Gibbs.) Okoke mitlite,—the remainder. Okoke polaklie,—tonight. Okoke sun,—today. "There are no words for articles, except that the demonstrative pronoun okoke, that, is sometimes used to denote a very definite the."—Eells.

O'-lal-lie, or O'-lil-lie, n. (Belbella.) (Belbella,-idem.) Originally the salmon berry. (Chinook,-Klalelli,—berries in general.) Berries; fruit. Ex.: Klale olallie,—blackberries. Pil olallie,—currants; cranberries. Sallal olalllie,—sallal berries. Olallie chuck,—berry juice. Shot olillie,—huckleberries. Seapho, or siahpult olillie,—raspberries; thimble cap berries. Salmon olillie.—salmon berries; &c. (On Puget Sound always called olallie.)

O'-le-man, n., adj. (E). (English,-Old man.) An old man; old; worn out; stale. Example: Okoke kuitan yaka hyas oleman,—that horse is very old. (As regards articles, used in the sense of worn out.)

O'-lo, adj. (C). (Chinook,-idem.) Hungry. Example: Olo chuck,—thirsty. Olo moosum,—sleepy. Nika hyas olo alta,—I am very hungry now. Wake siah mimoluse kopa olo,—famished. (Olo moosum, not used on Puget Sound to my knowledge,—tikegh moosum, is sleepy.—Eells.) Olo time,—Lent.

Oo'-a-kut, or Wayhut, n. (Chinook,-Wehut; Yakima,-Wiet.), A road; path; trail; way; highway; lane. (Under the spelling Oyhut it is the name of a place in Chehalis County, Wash.—Eells.) Example: Kah ooakut kopa Olympia?—where is the road to Olympia? Ooakut kopa chuck,—a channel. Ooakut kopa town,—a street. (Eells says: "The pronunciation as I have given is not found in any of the dictionaries, but is what I have almost universally found on Puget Sound; wayhut being very seldom used. Gibbs says that on the Columbia it is pronounced hwehkut, and on Puget Sound weehut; but Gill (Portland) gives oehut, and I have seldom heard anything but ooahut on Puget Sound; only occasionally wayhut.") (Other ways of spelling: Hooikut; oihat; oihot; oehut; ohehut; owakut; hwehkut; weehut; wehkut; oyhut.) "The Indians are very quick to detect any difference in the intonation or method of pronunciation of the whites, and sometimes think we speak different languages. An Indian asked me one day (while pointing to a cow) what was the name we called that animal. I told him cow. He said that he had just asked another white man, and he called it a caow. By this means, different Indians who have been with the whites acquire a habit of pronouncing such English words as they pick up in the same style and manner as the person from whom they learn them. This causes a great discrepancy in the Jorgon, which at first is difficult to get over. And, again, each tribe will add some local words of their own language, so that while a person can make himself understood among any of the tribes for the purposes of trade, it is difficult to hold a lengthened conversation on any subject without the aid of some one who has become more familiar with the peculiar style."—Judge Swan.

O'-poots, or O'pootsh, n. (C). (Chinook,-Obeputsh.) The fundament; the posterior; the tail of an animal; anus; end; rectum; stern; back; backside. Example: Boat opoots,—the rudder. Opoots-sill,—a breach clout. Humm opoots,—a skunk.

Ow, n. (Chinook,-Au.) A brother younger than the speaker. Example: Kah mika ow?—where is your brother? Elip ow,—an older brother. Kahkwa ow,—fraternal; brotherly. Ow yaka klootchman,—a sister-in-law. Ow yaka tenas man,—a nephew. Ow yaka tenas klootchman,—a niece.

Order of the Words: "There is no settled authority in regard to the order of the words in this language. They are generally placed in much the same order as they are in the language which the speaker has been accustomed to use, if he be not well acquainted with the language. An English speaking person will place them in much the same order that he would in English, but there are many phrases where this is not true, the order of which must be acquired by practice: for instance,—halo nika kumtuks,—not I understand, is far more common than nika halo kumtuks. An Indian who has learned somewhat the English order, will arrange the words in much the same way; but if the speaker is an old Indian who knows but little about English he will arrange them much as he is accustomed to do in his native tongue, which is usually very different from the English. As the tendency, however, is not for the whites to learn the native Indian languages, but for the Indians to learn the English, so the tendency is toward the English order of the words."—Eells.

P

Pahtl, adj. (C). (Chinook,-Patl.) Full. Example: Pahtl-lum or paht-lum,—drunk. Pahtl chuck,—wet. Pahtl illahie,—dirty. Mamook pahtl,—to fill. Kwanesum yaka pahtlum,—he is always drunk. (Other ways of spelling pahtl: Partle; patl; patle; pattle.) (Pahtlum is also spelled: Pahtllum; patlem; phatlum; pahtllam; partlelum; potlum; pottlelum.)

Paint, or Pent, n., adj. (E). (English,-Paint.) Mamook pent,—to paint.

Papa, n. (English,-idem). A father. Ex.: Nika nanitsh yaka papa,—I see his father.

Pa-se'-se, or Pa'-see-sie, n. (C). (Chinook,-Pasisi.) A blanket; woolen cloth. Ex.: Yaka mitlite kwinnum paseesie,—he has five blankets. Tzum paseesie,—a quilt. "Paseesee, is properly pronounced with the accent on the second syllable. You will see how very different the word becomes if you attempt to accent the first or last syllables."—Gill.

Pa-'si-ooks, n., adj. (C). (Chinook,-Pasisiuks.) (French; a Frenchman. Ex.: Ahnkuttie hiyu pasiooks man mitlite yakwa,—formerly many Frenchmen lived here. (Mr. Hale supposed this to be a corruption of the French word Francais. It is, however, really derived from the foregoing word, Pasisi, with the terminal uks, which is a plural form applied to living beings. Lewis and Clarke (vol. 2, pp. 413) give Pashisheooks,—clothmen, as the Chinook name for the whites, and this explanation was also furnished me by people of that tribe. It has since been generally restricted to the French Canadians, though, among some of the tribes east of the Cascade Range, it is applied indiscriminately to all the Hudson's Bay people.) —Gibbs. (Other ways of spelling: Pahseeooks; pasaiooks; pasaiuks; passaiooks; pesioux; pesyooks; pasheshiooks; passiuks.) "The origin of some of the words is rather whimsical. The Americans, British, and French are distinguished by the terms Boston, Kingchotsh (King George), and Pasaiuks, which is presumed to be the word Francais (as neither f, r, nor the nasal n can be pronounced by the Indians) with the Chinook plural termination uks added. The word for blanket, paseesee, is probably from the same source (francaises,—French goods or clothing)."—Hale. (See Dutchman.)

Pe, or Pee, conj. (F). (French,-Puis). And; but; Eells says and and but are its only meanings. Gibbs and Hale give then, besides, or. Hale says: "Only two conjunctions, properly speaking, are found in the language,—Pe and Spose,—often contracted to Pos. These two conjunctions form the only exceptions to the rule that all the grammatical elements of the jargon are derived from the proper Chinook language. The pronouns and the numerals are pure Chinook." Ex.: Yaka pe nika klatawa,—he and I will go. Yaka wawa kahkwa pe nika wawa huloima,—he said so, but I said differently. Pe weght,—and; also; besides. Pe kahta,—and why; for what; what reason.

Peh'-pah, or Papah, n. (English,-Paper). Paper; a letter; any writing; book; message. Ex.: Mamook pehpah,—To write. Kloshe mika mamook papah kopa nika,—please to write a letter for me. Kumtuks papah,—to read. Saghalie tyee yaka papah,—the Bible; Testament.

Pel'-ton, or Pehlten, n., adj. (Jargon). A fool; foolish; crazy; absurd; insane. Ex.: Kahkwa pelton,—like a fool; hyas pelton mika,—you are very silly. (The Indians adopted this word from the name of a deranged person, Archibald Pelton, or perhaps Pelton, whom Mr. Wilson P. Hunt found on his journey to Astoria, and carried there with him. The circumstance is mentioned by Franchere, in his "Narrative," trans., p. 149.) "The word pehlten—insane, crazy—comes from "Pilion," the name of an employee of the Hudson's Bay, who become insane. Between the French and English pronunciation of that name, the Indians made it pilio, pilian, and at last pehlten, and adopted the name to mean insane in general."—Kamloops Wawa. (Other spellings: Pelhten; pilten; piltin; pilton).

Pe-shak', or Pe-shuk, adj. (N). (Nootka,-Peshuk). (Nittinat,-idem). Bad. (Mesachie is used for it on Puget Sound

"The potlatch was the greatest institution of the Indian, and is to this day. From far and near assembled the invited guests and tribes and with feasting, singing, chanting and dancing, the bounteous collection was distributed; a chief was made penniless, the wealth of a lifetime was dissipated in an hour, but his head ever after was crowned with the glory of a satisfied ambition; he had won the honor and reverence of his people. It was a beautiful custom; beautiful in the eyes of the natives of high or low degree, confined to no particular tribe, but to be met with everywhere along the coast."—The Siwash.

"Potlatch (noun)—That which is given, bestowed, bequeathed, given, etc.,—i. e., a gift. Always given with the expectation, greater or lesser, of a return. Cultus potlatch,—a purposeless gift, that is, outright with no expectation of return. Potlatch,—an old Indian feast and custom, forbidden by law, characterized by extreme extravagance on the part of the host or hostess in the bestowal of gifts upon guests. Potlatch muckamuck,—To give food."—Buchanan. (Other ways of spelling:—Potlash, potlatch, potlach, potlatsh). Kloshe mika potlatch nika wawa kopa yaka,—to intercede. Cultus potlatch tumtum,—to advise; counsel; to give advice or counsel. Kloshe kopa cultus potlatch,—generous. Ipsoot potlatch dolla kopa tyee,—to bribe. Potlatch dolla,—to give alms; to pay. Potlatch kloshe wawa,—to congratulate; admonish. Potlatch kopa saghalie tyee,—to dedicate; to consecrate. Potlatch kumtuks kopa mesachie,—to warn; give warning. Potlatch mesachie wawa kopa tillikums,—to insult. Potlatch muckamuck pe konaway iktas,—to support. Potlatch saghalie yaka wawa,—to preach. Potlatch skookum wawa,—to reprove; exhort. Potlatch wawa,—to make a speech; to speak; to order.

Sis'-ki-you, n. Cree. (Anderson). A bob-tailed horse. (Tolmie and Dawson give tshis-ki-you,—sky; aht,—kaiookwaht.)—Editor. (This name, ludicrously enough, has been bestowed on the range of mountains separating Oregon and California, and also on a county in the latter state. The origin of this designation, as related to me by Mr. Anderson, was as follows. Mr. Archibald R. McLeod, a chief factor of the Hudson's Bay Company, in the year 1828, while crossing the mountains with a pack train, was overtaken by a snow storm, in which he lost most of his animals, including a noted bob-tailed race-horse. His Canadian followers, in compliment to their chief, or "bourgeois," named the place the Pass of the Siskiyou,—an appellation subsequently adopted as the veritable Indian name of the locality, and which thence extended to the whole range, and the adjoining district.—Gibbs.) (See note under Tatoosh.)

Sit'-kum, n., adj. (C). (Chinook,-Sitkum (Anderson); Clatsop,-Asitko.) A half; a part; fraction; middle; some; a piece. vage.) An Indian; Indian; aborigines; a savage; savage. Example: Hiyu siwash mitlite yukwa,—many Indians are here. Okoke siwash klootchman,—that is an Indian woman. Kumtuks kopa siwash,—ethnology. Sitkum siwash,—a half-breed. "The Siwash of Puget Sound (a general term applied to males of all the tribes) and the Indians of the entire North Pacific coast.")—The Siwash, pp. 10-11. (Walker says: "The word is pure Indian and the one used by the Wasco Indians, and probably by the Klickitats, both of which tribes originally ranged along the Columbia river from the Cascades to The Dalles, and whose languages are nearly identical, to designate a human as distinguished from an animal or other creature. Probably 'people' is the nearest word in English for it. After the coming of the whites among them they adopted the names 'Bostons,' 'King George,' 'Passieuks' (French), etc., retaining the word 'siwash' for application to Indians. While undoubtedly the Chinook Jargon was more or less of a growth, yet I have been told by the Wasco Indians that the language was perfected and first written down by the Catholic priests at the Dalles, and they appear to have drawn quite freely from the Wasco language in doing so.") "Out of his canoe he is a fish out of water, a sloth away from his natural surroundings. He is like a seal on shore, a duck on dry land, ungainly and awkward."—The Siwash.

Skin, n. (English,-idem.) Skin; a skin; leather; hide; pelt; fur; buckskin. Skin shoes,—moccasins. Stick skin,—the bark of a tree. Dly skin,—leather.

Skoo'-kum, or Skoo-koom, n., adj. (S). (Chihalis,-Skukum.) Strong; a ghost; an evil spirit or demon; able; solid; potent; powerful; vehement; tight; violent; tough. Example: Nika kuitan yaka skookum,—my horse is strong. Delate hyas skookum,—omnipotent. Elip skookum,—strongeer. Elip skookum kopa konoway,—strongest. Halo skookum, or Wake yaka skookum,—feeble; frail; flimsy; impotent; infirm; languid; tender; unable; weak; wavering; decrepit. Skookum tumtum (adj., n.),—audacious; brave; bold; capable; daring; dauntless; determined; earnest; indomitable; resolute; robust; sanguine; solid; valiant; boldness; courage. Skookum chuck,—swift water; a rapid. Skookum wawa,—to beg; beseech; boast; chide; demand; exhort; implore; plead; rebuke; scold; screech; scream; shriek; hulloa; urge. (Other spellings: Skokoom, skukum, shukum.) "Skookum Club,"—name given to Democratic Club of Seattle; also name of a famous brand of cigar.

Sla-hal, n. (C). (Shinook,-Etlaltlal.) Gibbs says it is a game played with ten small disks, one of which is marked, and mamook slahal, is to play the game, or gamble with them; while others say that they mean respectively a game and to gamble, in general. ("In Twana the word for the round disks is Lahul; in Nisqually, Lahallab; in Clallam, Slehallum; in Lower Chehalis, Lahul; and in Upper Chehalis, Lal. For the gambling bones it is slahal in Twana and Nisqually, and slehal in Clallam. Evidently on account of the similarity of the words, Slahal and Lahul, these words have been confounded; mamook lahal being properly to gamble with the disks; and mamook slahal to gamble with the bones."—Eells.)

Snass, n. (Quaere u. d.). Rain. (The word is neither Chinook nor Chihalis, and is perhaps manufactured.) Example: Halo nika tikegh klatawa kopa snass,—I do not wish to go in the rain. Snass chako,—it is raining. Cole snass,—snow.

Sol'-leks, or Sah'-leks, n., adj. (Quaere u. d.). Anger; be angry; malice; hate; hatred; hostile; indignant; morose; mad; sulky; sullen; be mad. Example: Mamook solleks,—to fight; resent; offend; provoke. Tikegh solleks,—to be hostile. Kumtuks solleks,—to be passionate. Halo solleks,—meek; mild; pleasant. Yaka hyas solleks,—he is very angry. Yaka solleks kopa nika,—he is mad at me. Chako solleks,—to become angry; provoked, or offended. Hyas solleks,—furious; rabid; full of vengeance or rage; very angry. Hiyu solleks,—fury; rage; vengeance. Solleks wawa,—a quarrel; growl. (Other spellings: Saliks, salix, sallix, sallux, silex, soleks.)

So'-pe-na, v. (C). (Chinook,-T'sopena.) To jump; to leap; hop; skip; spring.

Spose, conj. (English,-Suppose). If; supposing; that; provided that; in order that. (Boas says it is more frequently pronounced pos on the Columbia river; and that pos in Chinook means if; so that spose may be explained as due to folk etymology on the part of the traders, or pos as folk etymology on the part of the Chinook.—Gibbs.) (Other spellings: Pos, pose, spos.) Example: Spose mika nanitsh nika canim,—if you see my canoe. Spose nika klatawa kopa Chinook,—if or when I go to Chinook. Kahkwa spose,—as if. (See Kloshe spose.) Spose mika tikegh, nika klatawa,—if you wish I will go. Spose kopet lakit tahtlum sun, Jesus yaka tikegh klatawa kopa Saghale,—(literally) when ended four ten days, Jesus he would go to Heaven,—i. e., when the forty days were ended, He desired to ascend to Heaven. "A conditional or suppositive meaning is given to a sentence by the words klonas, perhaps, and spose (from the English 'suppose'), used rather indefinitely. Ex.: Nika kwass nika papa klonas mimaloose,—I fear my father will die (lit., I afraid my father perhaps die). Spose mika klatawa yahwa, pe nika chaco kahkwa,—if you will go yonder, I will follow (lit., suppose you go that way, then I come the same)." "It will be noticed that these two conjunctions form the only exceptions to the rule that all the grammatical elements of the Jargon are derived from the proper Chinook language. Only two conjunctions, properly speaking, are found in the language—pe, from the French word pues, and spose."—Hale.

Stick, n., adj. (English,-idem). A stick; a tree; wood; wooden; vine; pole; rod. Example: Stick skin,—bark. Ship stick,—a mast. Mitwhit stick,—a standing tree. Icht stick,—a yard measure. Stick shoes,—leather shoes or boots, as distinguished from skin shoes or moccasins. Kull stick,—oak (hard wood). Isick stick,—the ash (paddle wood).

Stock'-en, n. (E). Stockings or socks. (The Twanas have adopted it into their language as stah-kid.—Eells.)

Sun, n. (English,-idem). The sun; a day. Example: Sun yaka waum alta,—the sun is warm now. Okoke sun,—today. Tahlkie sun,—yesterday. (Ikt tahlkie,—day before yesterday.) Tenas sun,—early. Sitkum sun,—noon. Wake siah sitkum sun,—almost noon. Ikt sun,—Monday. Mokst sun,—Tuesday. Klone sun,—Wednesday. Lakit sun,—Thursday. Kwinnum sun,—Friday. Taghum sun,—Saturday; (formerly muckamuck sun). Klip sun,—sunset. Elip sitkum sun,—before noon; the forenoon. Kimtah sitkum sun,—after noon; the afternoon.

Sun'-day, or Sante, n. (English,-idem). Sunday; week. Example: Kloshe mika chako kopa church house kopa Sunday,—please to come to church on Sunday. Sunday sail,—a flag, because formerly on Sunday the flag was raised at the Hudson's Bay Company's posts. Ikt Sunday,—a week. Hyas Sunday,—a holiday. (A flag hoisted on a particular occasion is sometimes also called Sunday. The other days of the week are usually counted from this; as, Icht, Mokst, Klone sun kopet Sunday,—one, two, three days after Sunday. Saturday used to be called at the Hudson's Bay Company's posts "muckamuck sun",—food day, as the one on which the rations were issued.)—Gibbs. (Eells gives: "Hyas Sunday,—a holiday, as Fourth of July; Christmas. Mokst Sunday,—a fortnight. Ikt Sunday,—a week; but the word week is rapidly taking its place.")

Tagh'-um, To'-hum, or Tugh'-um, adj. (C). (Chinook,-Takhum; Cowlitz,-Tukhum; Kwantlen,-Tukhum; Selish,-Takkan.) Six. Example: Tahtlum pe taghum,—sixteen. Taghum tahtlum,—sixty. Taghum tukamonuk,—600. (Other spellings: Taghkum; taham; tahkhum; tahom; tahum; tohhum; tuchum; tughhkam.) (Clallam,—T'hung. Upper Chehalis,—Tahum.)—Eells.

Tahl-kie, or Tahnl-kie, adv. (C). (Chinook,-Tanlki.) Yesterday. Example: Yaka chako tahlkie,—he came yesterday. Tahlkie sun,—yesterday. Icht tahlkie,—day before yesterday. "Talki sun,—yesterday. Mox talki sun,—day before yesterday. Tomollah,—tomorrow. Talki moon,—last month. Talki waum illahee,—last summer. Talki cole illahee,—last winter."—Buchanan. (Other spellings: Eattathlelum; tahtelum; tahtil'a; tartlum; tatlelam; tatlelom; tattelum; taughlelum; tohtleum; totlum.)

T'al-a-pus, n. (C). (Chinook,-Italipas; Yakima,-Telipa (Pandosy). The coyote or prairie wolf. A sort of deity or supernatural being, prominent in Indian mythology. A sneak. Eells gives, "Hyas opoots talapus,—same as Talapus. Some give Talapus as Coyote or Prairie Wolf and Hyas opoots talapus as Fox, and some exactly the reverse, custom probably being different according to locality.")

Ta-mah-no-us, n. (C). (Chinook,-Itamanawas.) A sort of guardian or familiar spirit; magic; luck; fortune; anything supernatural; the spirits; a ghost; goblin; idol; witch. "A name applied to anything the Indians cannot understand. A Tah-mah-na-wis man is a doctor, priest, conjurer, and fortune-teller, a dealer in magic and a maker and destroyer of charms for good and evil, all in the same personage."—Phillips. ("One's particular forte is said to be his Tamahnous.")—Gibbs. Example: Mamook tamahnous,—to conjure; "make medicine." Masahchie tamahnous,—witchcraft or necromancy. Mr. Anderson restricts the true meaning of the word to conjuring. Halo yaka mitlite tamahnous,—he has no guardian spirit. "'Klale Tah-mah-na-wis,' the name of the secret society of black magic."—Phillips. "There were four kinds of ta-mahu-a-wis, sometimes spelled ta-mahno-us, or spirit practices in vogue among the Twanas as there were among the great family of Selish Indians in Washington. The word ta-mahn-a-wis may be and was used in the sense of a noun, an adjective or a verb. As a noun it means any kind of a spirit in the spirit world from the Sahg-ha-lie Tyee, or supreme being, to the klail ta-mahn-a-wis, or devil, literally, black spirit. As an adjective a ta-mahn-a-wis stick, stone, person, etc., is a thing or individual with a ta-mahn-a-wis or spirit either of good or evil in it. As a verb it is used in the sense of invoking the aid of spirits, as 'mah-mok ta-mahn-a-wis.' The four kinds of ta-mahn-a-wis of the Indians of the Twana tribe at least are: The 'ta-mahn-a-wis over the sick,' the incantations of the medicine men; the 'red ta-mahn-a-wis,' the 'black ta-mahna-wis,' and the 'spirit land ta-mahn-a-wis.' The sick ta-mahn-a-wis was only practiced for the healing of the sick. The red, or pill ta-mahn-a-wis, was an assembling together, an invocation, in short, of the spirits for a good season the following summer. It lasted three or four days and consisted of singing, dancing, the beating of tom-toms, drums and the decoration of the face and limbs and body invariably with streaks and spots of red paint. The black, or klail ta-mahn-a-wis, was the free masonry of the Twanas and was without doubt the one great religion of all religious practices among them. It was a secret society to a very large extent, and none but the initiated were ever permitted to have anything to do with it. Masks made in rude imitation of the wolf head were used, and these were called shway-at-sho-sin. The practice of the spirit land ta-mahn-a-wis was associated with or founded on a very pretty myth believed in by the old Twanas to the effect that a year or two perhaps before an Indian died he or she lost his or her spirit. Spirits from other places, always from below, would visit the Indian and, quite unaware to the person, would take and carry off the spirit and sail with it to their abiding place, there to hold it in captivity unless released by spirits from this life. The theory of the medicine ta-mahn-a-wis is that when a person is sick some evil spirit has taken possession of the body, sometimes more than one evil spirit, and of different kinds. It was always the duty of the ta-mahn-a-wis doctors to find out what kind of a spirit had entered the body, and then by incantation and ceremony to drive it out." —The Siwash. "The Twana or Skokomish tribe," pp. 32-40. Ta-mahn-a-wis rattles,—made out of deer hoofs, bear and beaver teeth, etc. (Other ways of spelling: Tamahnawas, tamahnawis, tamahnowus, tamanawas, tamanoaz, tamanous, tomahnawos, tomanawos.)

Ta-mo'-litsh, or Ta-mow'-litsh, n. (C). (Chinook,-Tamulitsh (Anderson); Yakama,-Tamolitsh (Pandosy). A tub; barrel; bucket; cask; keg. Example: Chuck mitlite kopa tamolitsh,—water is in the barrel. Icht tamolitsh,—a bushel measure. (Other ways of spelling: Tamoolidge, tamolich, tamolich, tamolitch, tamoluck, tamoolitch, tamulidge.)

Tanse, v., n. (English,-Dance.) To dance. Example: Hiyu tanse alta,—there is much dancing now.

Te-ah'wit, n. (C). (Chinook,-Tiawi; Clatsop,-Klaawit). The leg; the foot. (Differentiate by gesture). Example: Klatawa teahwit,—to go on foot; to walk; Klook teawit,—Lame. (Other ways of spelling: Teeahnute, tearwit, teawhit, teiawit, teouit.)

Ta-toos'h, To-toos'h, n. (Chippeway,-Totosh (Schoolcraft.) "Tatoosh from Cree or Otcipwe. The cognate words are: Cree (Lacombe) totosim, 'mammelle, pis.' Otcipwe (Baraga) totosh,-breast, dug, udder; Algonkin (Cuoq), totoc, 'mammelle.' "—Chamberlain. The breasts of a female; milk, bosom; breast; teat; udder. Example: Kloshe tatoosh,—cream. Tatoosh lakles,—butter. Tatoosh gleese,—butter. Eells says the word milk is taking its place. (Tatoosh Light House, Tatoosh Island and Tatoosh, near Cape Flattery, Clallam County, Wash.) NOTE: The words of a Algonkian origin which are to be found in the vocabulary of Chinook, as given by the authorities, are consequently: Kinnikinnik, [le]pishemo, mitass, siskiyou, totoosh, wapatoo. Regarding the etymology of these loan-words, the following may be said: Kinni-kinnik. Derived directly or indirectly from Otcipwe. The cognates are Otcipwe (Baraga). Kiniginige, 'I am mixing together something of diffirent kinds.' (Cuoq) kinikinige, (meler ensemble des choses de nature differente.' The radical is seen in Algonkin (Cuoq) kinika, 'pele-mele'—Cree, Kiyekaw. (See supplemental vocabulary). Lepishimo. This word evidently consists of the French article le and a radical [a] pishemo. This latter apishamon, 'anything to lie on; a bed: corresponds to the Otcipwe (Baraga) apishemo, 'I am lying on something.' Compare the Western Americanism apishamore which Bartlett (Dict. of Americanism, 1877) thus defines: Apishamore (Chippeway, apishamon). Anything to lie down on: a bed. A saddle-blanket made of buffalo-calf skins, much used on the prairies." Mitass. Directly or indirectly (through French-Canadian) from Otcipwe or Cree. The cognate words are: Otcipwe (Baraga) midass: Algonkin (Cuoq), mitas; Cree (Lacombe) mitas. The word exists in Canadian-French in the form of mitasse. Dr. Franz Boas kindly informs me that "legging" in Chinook and Clatsop is imetas. (See supplemental vocabulary.) Siskiyou. Though this word is assigned a Cree origin by Mr. Gibbs, its etymology is very uncertain. Blackfoot sakhsiu, "short" and Cree kiskikkuttew, "he cuts in two" offer themselves for comparison, but with no certainty"—Chamberlain. Tshis-ki-yu, sky, is given by Tolmie and Dawson in "Comparative Vocabularies of the Indian Tribes of British Columbia" —53 B. (64, sky) Aht. (Kaiookwaht)—Shaw. Wappatoo, under proper order in main alphabet, (q. v.) Papoose. Another word may be added to this list, viz., papus (papoose)—child. This word is used by the speakers of Chinook in Eastern British Columbia. The Algonkin origin of the word has been disputed by some, but there is every reason to believe that it is connected with the root seen in the Massachusetts papeissiosu (Eliot)—'he is very small.; peisses (Eliot) 'child'; pe-u (Eliot) 'it is small.' From this root there seems little doubt that the word papoos or papoose found in Roger Williams, and in Wood ("New England Prospect") has been derived, as Dr. Trumbull has pointed out. These words were all heard by the writer in Western British Columbia in the summer of 1891. Siskiyou was not heard and is probably obsolescent."—Alexander Francis Chamberlain, "Words of Algonkian origin (in the Chinook Jargon), in Science, Vol. 18, pp. 260-261. 1891.

GUIDE TO PRONUNCIATION

KEY TO THE SYMBOLS

The pronunciation is indicated by the simple system of respelling which is used in Webster's International Dictionary. It employs the diacritically marked letters familiar in the schoolbooks of the country. "The defects of the English orthography are well known, but, under the circumstances, we have no choice but to follow it, making up for its deficiencies by the necessary explanations. In the phonetics of the language one point is specially interesting, both as illustrating the usual result of the fusion of two or more languages, and as showing one of the laws which must govern the formation of any international speech. As the Jargon is to be spoken by Englishmen and Frenchmen, and by Indians of at least a dozen tribes, so as to be alike easy and intelligible to all, it must admit no sound which cannot be readily pronounced by all. The numerous harsh Indian gutturals either disappear entirely, or are softened to h and k. On the other hand, the d, f, g, r, v, z, of the English and French become in the mouth of a Chinook t, p, k, l, w, and s. The English j (dzh) is changed to ch (tsh); the French nasal n is dropped, or is retained without its nasal sound."—Hale. Note—"With the spelling in use I have learned that it is useless for any person who has not heard a Chinook word used, to try to give its pronunciation. The accented syllable is marked. It must not be supposed, however, that the pronunciation I have given is the only correct one; as already stated, there are often different ways of pronouncing the same word in different localities. The other authors use the letters much as they are used in English, which really means that their sounds, especially those of the vowels, cannot be easily understood until the person hears them sounded by some one who understands their pronunciation." Authority: Myron Eells, D. D. See note under Kalakala, main vocabulary.—Hale.

Seattle, Feb 12 1909

My dear Shaw:

I have looked over your work that you call a Chinook "dictionary" and I think you should call it a Chinook Lexicon instead. It is without doubt the most comprehensive and exhaustive study of the Chinook jargon in existance today and you have accomplished a big undertaking in rescuring from the obscurity of passing time a language that has served as an inter-communicating medium between civilization and the mystery of the savage mind for more years than most people know.

I have studied the indians at first hand for years and I talk Chinook with the best of them so that I understand in detail the shaded meanings of the words of this strange savage Volapuk probably as well as any living man does today and I have no hesitation in saying that this work of yours is the most comprehensive exhaustive and — what is more — the most nearly correct treatise bearing on the jargon that I have ever seen. I Congratulate you on a big work well done and hope your lexicon soon occupies the position it deserves, namely, to be the Standard work on Chinook for all who wish to study its mysteries.

Wishing you the best of success which you certainly deserve I am

Yours Truly
